Dear Hiring Committee,

I am writing to express my interest. As a current Computer Science major at Wittenberg University with hands-on experience in programming, system development, and technical problem-solving, I am eager to bring my skills and enthusiasm for technology to your team.

Through my coursework and projects, I have developed strong proficiency in Python, C, C++, and Java, along with practical experience using Visual Studio, Kali Linux, and more. My academic background has given me a strong foundation in both software development and systems concepts. At the same time, my professional experience as a server at Texas Roadhouse has strengthened my communication, teamwork, and problem-solving abilities—skills that I know are essential in a collaborative IT environment.

In addition, my leadership roles as Head Wrestling Coach at Kenton Ridge High School demonstrate my ability to mentor, organize, and adapt to the challenges I face, utilizing the qualities I bring to every situation. I believe this combination of technical expertise and interpersonal strengths makes me well-suited to contribute.

I am excited about the opportunity to apply my computer science knowledge in a practical setting and to support the company's mission. I would welcome the chance to discuss how my background, skills, and dedication can benefit your team.

Thank you for considering my application. I look forward to the opportunity to contribute and would be glad to provide any additional information.

Sincerely,
Matthew Cox
